Why Qualifying with ICF Accreditation Matters

Obtaining a coaching qualification with training for ICF accreditation is paramount for those seeking global recognition and trust within the coaching industry.

ICF accreditation not only validates your expertise but also demonstrates your dedication to ethical standards and proficiency. With an ICF-accredited certification, you access a worldwide network of respected professionals and organisations, paving the way for career prospects and distinguishing your coaching practice. Elevate your professional journey, earn the confidence of clients and employers, and become a leader in shaping the future of coaching by investing in ICF accreditation today.

Your Pathway to ICF Accreditation

For coaches seeking to showcase their foundational coaching skills, knowledge, and competency, obtaining an Associate Certified Coach (ACC) credential through the International Coaching Federation (ICF) serves as a vital step. ACC coaches demonstrate a solid understanding of the ICF Core Competencies, Code of Ethics, and coaching principles, making them valuable assets in their coaching careers. As an ICF Level 1 and 2 training provider FIRE UP Coaching® offers the most straightforward path to gaining ICF accreditation.

Level 1 Eligibility:

- Completion of 60+ hours of coaching education
- Accumulation of 100+ hours of coaching experience

Requirements:

- 10 hours of Mentor Coaching
- Successful completion (passing score) of a performance evaluation
- Successful completion (passing score) of the ICF Credentialing Exam

When you complete your training through FIRE UP Coaching® the ICF required education hours, mentor coaching, and performance evaluation are seamlessly integrated into our program. Upon completion of the course, applicants submit their program certificate and coaching experience hours for review, followed by the ICF Credentialing Exam. This streamlined process ensures that coaches are well-prepared and positioned to attain their ICF ACC Credential swiftly and confidently.

Program Format

FIRE UP Coaching® has developed a program combining facilitator-led webinars on Zoom with self-paced learning via our online student portal. The program comprises four parts totaling 30 training webinars of 2.5 hours each, and five ICF-specific mentor coaching sessions. Our program exceeds the ICF requirements for a Level 1 program, offering a total learning volume of 75 hours plus over 10 hours of mentor coaching required for ICF Accreditation.

Duration and Requirements

On average, the course content takes three to six months to complete, with required assessments to be finished within a two year timeframe. Participation requires access to a computer with internet and a webcam, as well as a commitment to attend facilitator-led sessions and ICF Mentor Coaching sessions.

Out-of-Class Requirements

While our program prioritises in-class participation, it also offers flexibility for additional activities outside of class. Participants are encouraged to engage in further reading, listen to podcasts, and practice coaching skills with peers. Additionally, out-of-class work entails securing two practice clients and conducting five assessable coaching sessions with each client.

Assessment Process

To achieve the 10857NAT Certificate IV in Business and Personal Coaching, participants must demonstrate competency in all seven core units. Assessment follows the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015 or its successor, with the majority of evaluations conducted in real and simulated environments. Assessments include practice coaching, client coaching sessions, knowledge quizzes, and attendance of mentor coaching sessions, all of which are submitted conveniently through the online student portal. Evidence for assessment is gathered holistically throughout the course duration, ensuring comprehensive evaluation of participants' skills and knowledge.
